

As we approach the centenary of the Great War, the "Agriturismo" Mondragon has organised a holiday package deal with a selection of our itineraries and initiatives developed over the years for children, teachers and tourists eager to gain an in-depth understanding of World War I, an event that deeply affected our territory.

The Treviso Province was involved in the turmoil of the Great War for just one year, but this event shows signs still clearly evident and is peculiar to the intensity of the fighting (two defensive battles defensive and the final offensive push to the end) as well as a variety of war stages: mountains, hills, on a large river.

Through the Paths of Memory: Along the Austro-Hungarian 6th Army - Monte Grappa Mountain you are my homeland - In the footsteps of Hemingway - The Piave river whispered ... we explore on the one hand abundant signs of war still evident in the area, on the other themes specific to the three great battles, in-depth and revisited themes also from the experience of war from the likes of Hemingway, Comisso, Marinetti, Gladden , as well as the posthumous war from Andrea Zanzotto.
